Antel Uruguay has not implemented STIR/SHAKEN for the moment.

We have a specialized team working on fraud prevention, monitoring calls and network 24/7.

Any excessive, suspicious call patterns will generate alarms and blocking of telephone services.

Cooperation with other carriers is a normal and frequent procedure.

Regarding the international outgoing traffic we need to remark the following details:

The fixed network is a monopoly managed by Antel, that means that the A numbers in international outgoing calls are completely under control (we do not allow any fixed customers to manipulate the A number)

There are 3 mobile operators in Uruguay. Antel is the major mobile operator and we offer international calling only to our own mobile customers, no transit from other mobile operators. So again, total control on call origination and validity of A number.

There is no way that international calls that we send abroad from our International Gateway could have an irregular or manipulated A number.

Antel sends CLI on all calls.

We do not do Wholesale, so there is no risk from calls originating in other countries and transiting through Antel. We have only retail traffic originated in Uruguay.

Only possible calls originated from Uruguay with NANPA numbering are those made by roamers.

All our traffic to USA is routed via major carriers (AT&T, Verizon, Sprint, Tata, BICS)

Any doubts about the above can be inquired with manager of our Fraud Prevention Team:
