Tho whom it may concern,

I am all but assured that we will not see robocall traffic originating on the Bullitt Communications network for the following reasons:

- 1) We know our customer base and do not engage with large call centers with the potential to generate this traffic
- 2) We monitor our usage and traffic
- 3) We engage with complaints from the public pertaining to fraudulent calling.
- 4) We monitor our support tickets, emails, telephone calls and voicemail messages during the waking hours of the day to ensure that we are not originating Robocall traffic.
- 5) We don't like Robocall traffic and believe our participation in efforts to eliminate it are incumbent upon us as a responsible VOIP carrier.
- 6) We are not a foreign voice service provider; we provide services only to our interconnected local Northwest Montana client base
- 7) Due to the above steps, we have neither reports nor complaints of Robocall traffic and expect that this will be the case going forward.
