

Machshevot Adam Inc, an Israeli business providing Value Added Services to it's customers has 3 customers using it's VOIP platform, with no current intent to grow the business. All 3 customers are using a PBX for the purpose of making calls and their PBX is administered by Machshevot Adam Inc, and is not setup for the ability to make RoboCalls nor do they have any intention of using the system for such purposes. Should any of our customers wish to use a system for such purposes we will immediately terminate our contract with them as this is not what we do as a company. We are generally about providing computing services to English speaking companies in Israel, that often need to make and receive phone calls to customers in the United States, not providing services to people looking to run a call center. Should any of our customers be found to be doing robocalling we will immediately terminate our contracts with them. In addition since our upstream providers don't allow Robocalls either we are automatically informed if any customers do start making robocalls.

Thank you,

Noah Sumner
