Robocall Mitigation Statement

Bytescribe's business is to record audio dictation for the purpose of transcription. No calls originate from our service providers. Calls from end-users are received by our dictation servers where the calling user is prompted to enter a PIN code. Callers then record dictation and the recorded audio files are routed to typists for transcription. No outgoing calls are placed from our service providers. There is no ability for our service to originate illegal robocalls.

Thank you,
