

NextGI L.L.C., a voice service provider operating under FCC rules (47 CFR § 64.6300), respectfully submits this exemption statement regarding the implementation of STIR/SHAKEN caller ID authentication.

We confirm the following:

1. Eligibility for Exemption:

NextGI L.L.C. qualifies for the exemption provided to small voice service providers as we currently serve fewer than 100,000 subscriber lines.

2. Compliance with FCC Rules:

In accordance with the exemption granted by the FCC for small voice service providers, we are submitting this statement to the Robocall Mitigation Database to notify the Commission of our status and ongoing efforts to combat illegal robocalls.

3. Robocall Mitigation Measures:

While we are exempt from immediate STIR/SHAKEN implementation, we have adopted a Robocall Mitigation Plan to ensure we take active measures to reduce unlawful robocalls. These measures include:

- Monitoring and analyzing outbound traffic for patterns indicative of illegal robocalls.
- Blocking or mitigating known fraudulent traffic.
- Working with upstream and downstream providers to maintain call integrity.

4. Future Plans:

NextGI L.L.C. is actively planning for the eventual implementation of STIR/SHAKEN authentication as we develop the proper modules in our current infrastructure. We are committed to achieving compliance as soon as technically and financially feasible.
