Robocall Mitigation Program

To whom it may concern,

Our dialer system and network does not originate itself nor facilitate the origination of outbound calls. We only originate and facilitate inbound traffic from this medium. From closely monitoring the average call duration from our network and servers, we can confidently identify the type of traffic being originated. All outbound calls to customers are made from our local office phones and personal cell phones, and our caller IDs reflect the name of the person or entity originating the calls. We are participating in this Robocall Mitigation Program by carefully administrating our phone traffic in these manners.
