Our company, Square Clover, don't implement STIR/SHAKEN on all our IP networks. We are a reseller and use Viirtue's STIR/SHAKEN services.

With that being said, we do have a program in place:

1. We perform due diligence on all customers before allowing origination of traffic.
2. We continuously monitor call traffic patterns to detect abnormal behavior such as:
 - High call volumes per second (CPS)
 - Short-duration calls
 - High call completion failures
 - Repetitive call patterns to large numbers of destinations
3. When traffic is suspected to be illegal robocalls, we may:
 - Block the calls at the PBX level
 - Require additional verification from the originating customer
 - Terminate the customer relationship if necessary

I certify under penalty of perjury that the above information is true and accurate, and that Square Clover is complying with the FCC's robocall mitigation rules.
