T-Metrics, a contact center solutions provider, currently purchases voice services from SkySwitch. These services are integrated into T-Metrics' platform and operational offerings, enabling the company to deliver reliable and scalable voice communication solutions. T-Metrics then resells these voice services as part of its broader suite of contact center services to its customers, which include contact center organizations requiring robust and flexible communication capabilities.

At this time T-Metrics does not own the voice network as SkySwitch does. SkySwitch has the responsibility to sign all packets with the STIR / Shaken information.
