

Company operates as a reseller/service provider utilizing upstream carriers for PSTN origination and caller ID authentication.

The company does not independently implement STIR/SHAKEN authentication and relies on upstream voice service providers for call authentication and caller ID verification.

The company maintains policies intended to prevent illegal robocall traffic, including:

- monitoring customer activity
- responding to traceback requests
- suspending abusive accounts when necessary
- cooperating with upstream providers and law enforcement

The company does not knowingly originate illegal robocalls.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Hank Ton", is written on a background of a light gray dotted grid. The signature is fluid and cursive, with the first letter 'H' being particularly large and stylized.